

Live Streaming

- Live streaming is online media that is recorded live.
- Be careful about using your real name. Some people use fake names while streaming to protect themselves. You can even create email addresses under a fake name to protect your identity.
- Like you would with any other website or application, use strong passwords.
- Discuss safety and privacy with your family and friends about sharing information online. Do not let them tag you in locations or share photos of your house.
- Do not:
 - show the outside of your house. Someone could figure out your actual location.
 - share your address. If you want to receive or send mail to viewers, use a P.O box.
 - share your location through social media accounts. Check your settings on social media, like Facebook or Instagram, to make sure they are not sharing your location.

References

Privacy Rights Clearinghouse. (2018, September 20). Staying Safe While Streaming.
<https://privacyrights.org/resources/staying-safe-while-streaming>